

STALL STREET JOURNAL

College of Engineering Office of Safety

SAFETY STARTS WITH YOU

May 2021

Stay Alert and Don't Get Hurt

With warmer weather here, many of us will be active outside more often. Whether walking, running, or biking, you should make yourself visible and avoid dangerous situations. Here are a few tips to make it safely to your destination.

Do not walk while texting.

Ensure your bike has reflectors & wear a helmet

Take extra caution during times of high traffic.

Look both ways before crossing an intersection.

Always be aware of your surroundings.

Make eye contact with motorists, if possible.

Be aware of temporary construction sites.

If you have ideas for the Stall Street Journal, contact: coesafety@engr.wisc.edu

I'm glad it's warm enough to ride a bike since I can no longer afford any other form of transportation.

